Culture up your day without leaving the comfort of your home with these free online museum tours from around the world.

Rijksmuseum

The Rijksmuseum in Amsterdam of Netherlands is one of the leading museums in Europe offering a rich variety of online resources. At the center of its home services lies the Rijkstudio, which allows you to dive into the museum's vast collection of 707,967 works of art. The Discover Masterpieces virtual tour takes you through the most prized exhibits of the Dutch museum. Among the most famous artworks is Rembrandt's Night Watch. Take a free online tour of the museum through Google's Art and Culture project.

Reina Sofia

If you like 20th-century Spanish artists like Pablo Picasso and Salvador Dali, then the Reina Sofia in Madrid of Spain is the museum for you. Reina Sofia's Rethinking Guernica is an online space devoted to material related to Picasso's masterpiece Guernica. Also, the museum's Gigapixel is a project offering a collection of hi-resolution artworks by artists like Dali, Miro, Mason, Picasso, Santos, and more.

Brazil's National Museum

Brazil's National Museum in Rio de Janeiro features over 300,000 items about Brazilian history. It stored important objects like the royal chair of Dom Pedro III (1825—1891), as well as handwritten documents, watercolour paintings and photographs. It made headlines in 2018 when a good part of its building was destroyed in a fire. However, thanks to a Google Arts and Culture virtual tour, you can still travel in space and time to take a virtual look at the museum and its collections before the destruction of 2018.

The Louvre Museum

The Louvre's Petite Galerie offers virtual tours in the famous museum of Paris in France. You can also watch 800 Years of History, a short documentary on the history of the museum, or a series of YouTube videos offering guided tours. In addition, the Louvre offers a VR experience of Leonardo da Vinci's the Mona Lisa.

"I'm All Grown Now Papa" tells a heartfelt story about a lovable young boy growing up in the rural mountains of Haiti, addressing a series of questions to his father in heaven, who passed away when he was only 1 month old. His grandmother, Grann, has told him so many stories about his father and the striking similarity between the two even at a very young age. The boy updates his father of the dynamics around the family, their struggle, their pain, their joy but most importantly his efforts to be a good boy, taking care of Grann and his mother in his father's absence. "I'm All Grown Now Papa" also shows how difficult it is for some boys and girls in certain parts of the world to receive an education and realize their dreams. All of the emotions and natural beauty of the mountains are beautifully interpreted through the illustrations of a gifted Haitian artist.

In the heartbreaking account of a young boy speaking to a father no longer with him, "I'm All Grown Now Papa" is written through the eyes of the author of the book, Claude Louis, in a journey through his own young childhood in Haiti. Claude Louis highlights charming village life and the undeniable love of his 'Grann'. "I'm All Grown Now Papa" attracts more privileged children and their parents to get involved in providing much needed aid and opportunity for those less fortunate.

In simple but vivid language, Claude Louis draws the readers into his world. The wonderful synchronicity (同步) of words and images seizes the life of Claude Louis perfectly, as his lived life is in line with his thoughts of his father, who remains a constant companion to his son even from the heaven, thanks to his memory, which is kept alive by 'Grann', who reminds him to 'look into a bucket of water' whenever he asks about his Papa. Louis expertly weaves the value of education into his story, and its importance even in the face of making a living despite hardship. His firm belief is delicately seized in the last illustration, that of his growing self, gaining in fame and in acquirement, all the while moving symbolically closer to his Father.

24. How does the boy frequently keep in touch with his father in heaven?
- A. By asking Grann to tell the story of the past.
 B. By sending his father pictures of his hometown.
 C. By telling his father the latest news about his family.
 D. By finding similarities between himself and his father.
25. What is the second paragraph mainly about?
- A. The theme of the book.
 B. The background of the story.
 C. The life journey of a Haitian boy.
 D. The writing technique of the novel.
26. What does the author think of Louis' writing style?
- A. Complex. B. Average. C. Conservative. D. Admirable.
27. What is the text?
- A. A news report. B. A book review. C. A children's story. D. A diary entry.

C

Researchers recently offered the most complete examination yet of the history of penguins. They said penguins came from a common ancestor shared with a group of seabirds like albatrosses. Penguins first developed the ability to dive, and then lost the ability to fly as they adapted to water.

The earliest-known penguin is called Waimanu manneringi, from New Zealand. It is believed to have lived 61 million years ago. Penguins live mainly in the southern hemisphere. The Galapagos penguin is the only one found north of the equator (赤道). Daniel Ksepka of the Bruce Museum in Greenwich, Connecticut, is the co-writer of the study that was published in Nature Communications. Ksepka noted that penguins are appealing animals. He added that they "are interestingly charming creatures. They love, they fight, they steal, and because of their funny upright posture, it's really easy to imagine them having all the same motivations as people."

The study proposes that changes in world temperatures and in major ocean currents have been important drivers of penguin evolution. The University of Copenhagen's Theresa Cole was the study's lead writer. Cole said the research found a number of genes likely involved in physical changes known as adaptations.

Such adaptations include gene transforms that shift the way penguins see the world. Penguins' vision is more sensitive toward the blue end of the color spectrum (光谱). Blue light goes more deeply into the ocean than light at the red end of the spectrum. Genes that help birds detect salty and sour tastes are active in penguins. But genes that help detect bitter and sweet tastes become inactive. Those may no longer be needed as penguins find food in cold, salty water and usually swallow the whole fish. Penguins show changes in their wing bones and a reduction of their flight feathers. Penguins also have reduced air spaces in the bone and the ability to store more oxygen in their muscles for long dives.

28. What does the underlined word "hemisphere" in paragraph 2 mean?
- A. Deep ocean. B. Half globe. C. Earth's pole. D. Large land.
29. Which of the following makes people tend to imagine penguins sharing human's inner desires?
- A. Penguins' behaviors. B. Penguins' appearances.
 C. Penguins' habitats. D. Penguins' characters.

30. What mainly cause penguins to develop?
- A. Interactions with humans.
 - B. Competitions with other animals.
 - C. Changes of geographical environment.
 - D. Physical changes from gene transforms.
31. What is presented in the last paragraph?
- A. What damage penguins' genes.
 - B. Why penguins change their body.
 - C. How penguins survive by adaptations.
 - D. How penguins are distinguished from other animals.

D

In 1985, 16-year-old Douglas Casa, ran the championship 10,000 meter track race at the Empire State Games. Suddenly, with just 200 meters to go, he collapsed, got back up and then collapsed again on the final straightaway, with his body temperature at dangerous levels. He had suffered an exertional heat stroke(运动型中暑). Fortunately, with immediate and proper treatment, he survived the potentially deadly stage.

Exertional heat stroke is caused by severe exercise in the heat, and is one of the top three killers of athletes and soldiers in training. When you exercise, nearly 80% of the energy you use is transformed into heat. In normal circumstances, your body can give off the heat as quickly as it's generated through cooling methods like the evaporation(蒸发) of sweat. But with severe heat stress, your body is unable to lose enough heat due to too much exercise, which raises your core temperature beyond normal levels. The cells no longer function properly and begin to leak their contents. If these leaky cells increase rapidly through the body, the results can be destructive.

So how do you judge an exertional heat stroke? The main criterion is a core body temperature greater than 40°C observed along with physical signs of central nervous system disorder such as very confusing behaviors or even loss of their sense of self.

As far as treatment goes, the most important thing to remember is cool first, transport second. It's essential to start rapid cooling on site in order to lower it as quickly as possible. After any athletic or protective device has been removed from the victim, place them in an ice water container, cooling as much surface area as possible. But before you start anything, emergency services should be called.

The sun is known for giving life, but it can also take life away if we're not careful. But although exertional heat stroke is one of the top three leading causes of death in sports, it has been 100% survivable with proper care.

32. What is the function of the first paragraph?
- A. To tell a story.
 - B. To present findings.
 - C. To put forward a theory.
 - D. To lead to the main topic.
33. What will happen to over-exercise in extremely hot weather?
- A. There will be minor physical and mental injury.
 - B. The heat in the body will be released with sweat.
 - C. Misfunctioning cells will damage the body seriously.
 - D. High body temperature will result in sweating more.
34. What is the first step to save a person suffering an exertional heat stroke?
- A. Rush him to the hospital.
 - B. Call the emergency services.
 - C. Cool him down with cold water.
 - D. Take the equipment off the person.

35. Which of the following reflects the statement about the sun in the last paragraph?
- A. Time tries all things.
 B. Every coin has two sides.
 C. Never judge by appearances.
 D. Keep something for a rainy day.

Some people are confident and full of wisdom while remaining true to their beliefs, which comes from self-awareness. Now we'll share how to develop self-awareness so you can practice mindful living.

36

Self-awareness is a continuous process that involves constant changes. Those with a growth mindset may be more likely to experience change more frequently. So, make it your goal to often pause and think about who you are and where you are and build toward where you're going.

Be more of a listener

The most common mistake that a lot of us make is that we always want to be heard. But how can we better understand ourselves if we don't take the time to listen and accept feedback from others? 37. Listening will give you a true sense of how other people perceive your character, giving you a better understanding of who you are.

Take a 3rd-person point of view of self-awareness

When someone has made mean remarks about you, you likely feel hurt. But have you tried taking the perspective of a 3rd-party? 38. Negative thoughts can prevent you from having a sense of self-awareness.

Treat yourself

39, which shifts the shape of who you essentially are. Whatever situations you are in, your goal should always be to come back to yourself. That's why you should plan to treat yourself well for your mental and physical wellbeing. Take yourself out and enjoy your favorite meal quietly. Or sit or sleep the whole day and do nothing at all. 40.

- A. Spend time with yourself
 B. Keep checking within yourself
 C. Life can be pretty challenging
 D. Self-awareness typically comes in periods of calm
 E. The journey of self-awareness requires self-examination
 F. This way, you will be able to avoid being over-critical of yourself
 G. Be ready to take in all perspectives that different individuals have about you

第二节 书面表达

Doing Housework During Holiday

Holiday is a great time for middle school students to relax themselves at home. Apart from resting, exercising and entertaining, doing housework can also be a part of their activities.

As is shown in the form, 45% of them occasionally spend some time doing housework while 35% never do it. By contrast, a quarter students often help their parents with housework and only 5% choose to do housework all the time.

The reason why most of them seldom or never do housework is that their parents prefer them to study and rest considering their busy schedule at school. But I think labor is a virtue. Doing housework can experience the pleasure of labor and the hardship of parents, and cherish the happy life given by parents and prepare themselves for college life.

Text 1

M: Could you be so kind to turn down that rock 'n' roll? I'm preparing for tomorrow's meeting report.

W: Sure. Sorry to disturb you.

Text 2

W: Hello, Peter. This is Mary. I made some chocolate cakes and I know how much you like it. Can you come and pick it up?

M: What? Who am I to turn down such kindness? You are so, so sweet! I'm on my way!

Text 3

M: Why did you attend Mr. Smith's English lectures recently? Have you changed your major from architecture to English?

W: No. As a matter of fact, I'm studying to build up my English to help myself with my computer course. You know modern architecture uses computers.

Text 4

W: Hey Jack! You really need to start to exercise.

M: Yes, I know. I'm putting on weight.

W: Why did you quit doing exercise in the sports center anyway?

M: Well, my roommate has moved out. And I really hate to go to the sports center alone.

Text 5

M: They may be proud of the new conditions, but I'm not happy with that. Their nurses are not friendly and everything seems to be running behind schedule.

W: Not to mention the fact that it's noisy because no one is responsible for visiting hours.

Text 6

M: Cindy, did you send out the furniture delivery to the customer?

W: No, the company hasn't provided the correct delivery address. I have already sent them a fax this morning.

M: I need you to try calling them again because we need to clear out the storehouse today.

W: All right. I'll call them as soon as I finish typing up this report.

Text 7

M: When shall we go to the nature reserve?

W: We should meet Peter and Sally in our classroom at 8:30 first.

M: No problem. Do you know how to get there?

W: Yes, my father prepared a map for me in advance. It will take us about two hours to get there by bus.

M: It takes too much time. How about taking a taxi?

W: But it's too expensive. Let me see. We might as well take the subway.

M: Good. I know it may be wet there. I plan to put on my strong shoes and bring a grey raincoat.

W: I'm not sure if it's wet. But I believe there must be an enormous variety of different animals. I'd like to take some great pictures.

Text 8

W: Well done, congratulations! You just won first prize in the State Basketball Competition.

M: Thank you.

W: Daniel, how old are you?

M: 17 years old.

W: How long have you been playing basketball?

M: About 10 years.

W: Why did you start to play basketball?

M: My father was on the school basketball team. One day he invited his old friends to play basketball. The match was so exciting that I was deeply attracted. Only then did I want to learn to play basketball.

W: Great. How many times a week do you play basketball?

M: I want to practice every day, but my parents say four days are enough to keep me fit. They think I should have a colorful life. So I often go to the library to read more, and go outside to experience something I can't learn at school.

W: Good. Are you going to continue with your basketball?

M: Uh-huh, I want to be a professional basketball player when I'm older.

W: Thanks for answering my questions. Wishing you greater success!

Text 9

W: Have you seen the new Cosmo magazine that I bought?

M: I saw it on the kitchen table.

W: It's not there. Oh, here it is, on the sofa. There's an interesting interview with a popular director about his latest film that I want to finish. It's Martin Scorsese. You liked his film, The Departed, didn't you?

M: Yes, it was fantastic! Can I read the article when you've finished?

W: Sure. You know it has an online edition, too. You could go online to read it.

M: Well, OK. Just out of curiosity, do you buy the magazine regularly?

W: Yes.

M: How much does the magazine cost?

W: It's almost £ 3 now, and I heard they're going to put the price up to £ 4 soon next month. I think few people would buy it if the price went up to £ 5.

M: I bet you'll still buy it. You wouldn't be able to live without your fashion magazine!

Text 10

I'm delighted to welcome you all here to our magical little outdoor play center. But before we let you, and more importantly your kids, get down to business enjoying yourselves, I just want to make everyone familiar with the center's main attractions.

If you look at the map I've given you, let's start by following the entrance road straight through the center to the attraction on the right of the bridge. That is the Petting Zoo, a lovely little area where children can spend time in the company of our very friendly farm animals. Continuing left past the bridge will take you to the Toddler's Play Pool. Alternatively, taking a right at the Petting Zoo will bring you down to the Fairy

Palace. If I can draw your attention to the Waterfall and Frog Pond, you'll notice that there are two attractions close by. Following the road that leads to a dead end takes you to Winter Wonderland. Here, we use snow machines to create a magical world of winter delights. On the other side of the map, just down from the Fairy Palace, there's another kind of wonderland—Waterworld. Waterworld is for the older kids only, a place where they can play about in the water to their heart's content. The last attraction I have to show you then is the Craft Zone, which is a little closer to the entrance than Waterworld. Here the kids can learn how to make all sorts of beautiful things like cards and shiny jewelry.

第二部分 阅读理解

第一节

本文介绍了四个免费的在线博物馆之旅。

21.【答案】 B

【解析】 细节理解题。根据 Rijksmuseum 部分的 The Rijksmuseum in Amsterdam of Netherlands ... 可知,本题涉及本段的艺术家,根据 Among the most famous artworks is Rembrandt's Night Watch. 可知,B项符合题意。

22.【答案】 B

【解析】 细节理解题。根据 Reina Sofia 部分提到 Reina Sofia's Rethinking Guernica is an online space devoted to material related to Picasso's masterpiece Guernica. 所以 B 项符合题意。

23.【答案】 D

【解析】 推理判断题。根据 Brazil's National Museum 部分提到 It made headlines in 2018 when a good part of its building was destroyed in a fire. However, thanks to a Google Arts and Culture virtual tour, you can still travel in space and time to take a virtual look at the museum and its collections before the destruction of 2018. (2018年,它的大部分建筑在火灾中被毁,成为头条新闻。然而,多亏了谷歌艺术和文化虚拟之旅,您仍然可以进行一次对2018年毁灭之前的该博物馆及其藏品的时空虚拟参观),由此可推知,该博物馆完整的原始收藏现实中无法看到,只能在网上看到。故选 D。

B

本文对《我现在都长大了,爸爸》这本书进行了评论。

24.【答案】 C

【解析】 细节理解题。根据第一段的 The boy updates his father of the dynamics around the family, their struggle, their pain, their joy but most importantly his efforts to be a good boy, taking care of Grann and his mother in his father's absence. (男孩向父亲讲述最新消息,介绍家庭周围的动态、他们的挣扎、他们的痛苦、他们的快乐,但最重要的是,他努力成为一个好男孩,在父亲不在的时候照顾奶奶和他的母亲)可知,男孩通过讲述家庭近况的方式来与天堂的父亲进行经常联系的。故选 C。

25.【答案】 A

【解析】 主旨大意题。通读第二段尤其是 Claude Louis highlights charming village life and the undeniable love of his 'Grann' while gently creating awareness of the inequalities and hardships that exist in the outlying areas of Haiti. 可知,本段主要讲述这本书的主题。故选 A。

26.【答案】 D

【解析】 推理判断题。根据最后一段的 In simple but vivid language, Claude Louis draws the readers into his world. 和 Louis expertly weaves the value of education into his story 等可知,本段展现了作者的写作语言简单但生动,而且巧妙地将教育的价值融入了他的故事中。由此可推知,作者认为 Louis 的写作风格是令人钦佩的。故选 D。

27.【答案】 B

【解析】 推理判断题。通读全文,本文是对《我现在都长大了,爸爸》的评论,由此可知,本文是一篇书评。故选 B 项。

C

文章讲述研究人员对企鹅的历史进行了迄今为止最完整的研究。

28.【答案】 B

【解析】 猜测词义题。划线词所在的句子描述了企鹅生活的主要地方,后一句补充了一个特例:Galapagos 企鹅是在赤道以北发现的唯一的企鹅,结合划线词前边的 southern 可推知,大多数企鹅生活在赤道以南,即南半球。故选 B。

29.【答案】 A

【解析】 细节理解题。第三段提到 They love, they fight, they steal, and because of their funny upright posture, it's really easy to imagine them having all the same motivations as people. (他们爱,他们打架,他们偷窃,因为他们滑稽的直立姿势,很容易想象他们和人有着相同的动机),其中的 love, fight, steal 和 funny upright posture 这些都是企鹅的行为,故选 A。

30.【答案】 C

【解析】 细节理解题。根据第四段的... changes in world temperatures and in major ocean currents have been important drivers of penguin evolution. (世界温度和主要洋流的变化是企鹅进化的重要驱动力)可知,企鹅进化主要是由于 world temperatures 和 major ocean currents 两方面的变化,即地理环境的变化。故选 C。

31.【答案】 C

【解析】 推理判断题。最后一段提到,企鹅的视觉、味觉、身体结构发生了变化来适应环境。由此可知 C 项 How penguins survive by adaptations. 符合题意。

D

运动员在高温下做剧烈运动很容易引起运动型中暑,严重时危及生命,文中提供了营救的正确方法。

32.【答案】 D

【解析】 推理判断题。第一段讲述一个运动员比赛时发生运动型中暑,幸亏得到及时救治,作者通过这个事例来引出本文的主要话题——运动型中暑。故选 D。

33.【答案】 C

【解析】 细节理解题。第二段提到 But with severe heat stress, your body is unable to lose enough heat due to too much exercise, which raises your core temperature beyond normal levels. The cells no longer function properly and begin to leak their contents. If these leaky cells increase rapidly through the body, the results can be destructive. (但在极热的压力下,由于过度运动,你的身体无法排出足够的热量,这会使你的核心温度超过正常水平。细胞不再正常工作,并开始流失其内容物。如果这些渗漏细胞在体内迅速增加,结果可能是具有破坏性的),由此可知,如果在极热天气里超负荷运动,细胞无法正常发挥功能,这会严重损害身体。故选 C。

34.【答案】 B

【解析】 细节理解题。第四段最后一句提到 But before you start anything, emergency services should be called. (但在你开始做任何事情之前,应该打电话给紧急服务部门),由此可知,挽救运动中暑的人的第一步是拨打急救电话。故选 B。

35.【答案】 B

【解析】 推理判断题。最后一段提到 The sun is known for giving life, but it can also take life away if we're not careful. (众所周知,太阳赋予生命,但如果我们不小心,它也会夺走生命),由此可知,太阳具有好坏两面。故选 B。

第二节

文章讲述如何培养自我意识,以便提升自己。

36.【答案】 B

【解析】 本段简述的是自我意识是一个不断变化的过程,那些具有发展型思维模式的人可能更容易经历更频繁的变化。因此,你的目标是经常停下来思考你是谁,你在哪里,并且朝着你要去的方向前进。根据本段内容,尤其是最后一句的 often pause and think about who you are and where you are 可知,本段小标题用 B 项 Keep checking within yourself 符合题意。

37.【答案】 E

【解析】 本段小标题 Be more of a listener。空格前提到:但是,如果我们不花时间去倾听和接受别人的反馈,我们怎么才能更好地理解自己呢?空格后提到:倾听会让你真正了解别人是如何看待你的性格的,让你更好地理解你是谁。由此可知,空格处为:自我意识的旅程需要自我反省符合题意。故选 E。

38.【答案】 F

【解析】 上文提出一条建议,空格处是这条建议的好处,空格后的句子进一步指出与本文主题 self-awareness 的关系。所以 F 项 This way, you will be able to avoid being over-critical of yourself. 符合题意。This way 指的是前一句建议的做法;over-critical of yourself 与后一句的 Negative thoughts 产生关联。

39.【答案】 C

【解析】 根据空格后的定语从句 which shifts the shape of who you essentially are 可知,此处是指一件改变你本质的样子的事。根据第二句的 Whatever situations you are in 可知,空格处描述了生活状况。所以 C 项 Life can be pretty challenging 符合题意。

40.【答案】 D

【解析】 根据上文的安静地吃美食和什么都不做坐着和睡觉度过一整天可知,空格处应该描述这两种状态与 Self-awareness 之间的关系。所以 D 项 Self-awareness typically comes in periods of calm 符合题意。calm 与前两句的 quietly 和 do nothing at all 产生关联。
