The season's first snow made most kids cheerful, but Elton was not. He walked his way home with an unhappy look on his face.

"Elton, it's snowing," said his mother as he entered the house. "I know, tomorrow is Saturday and there will be nothing to do," Elton replied. Elton loved to be outside during the summer. He loved swimming, hiking and riding his bike. But when the first snow of the winter came, Elton was always 13 because he couldn't swim, hike or ride his bike until spring.

Elton's mother knew he was unhappy. She tried to make him feel better with warm cookies. It only took him a few minutes to eat them all, and then his unhappy face returned.

Elton's mother told him to do his homework but he had finished it at school. "OK, 14 your room," she suggested. In fifteen minutes, Elton's room was tidy but he was still wearing his unhappy face. For an outside boy, winter was a 15 time of a year.

Just then the doorbell rang—it was Lucy, Elton's friend and neighbor. She 16 Elton to come outside and make a snowman. Elton wrinkled(皱着) his nose. He didn't like snow or winter. His mother said, "Yes, yes, he would like to go." Then she sent her unhappy son out with Lucy. Lucy and Elton made the largest snowman they had ever seen. At dinnertime, Elton came home and his unhappy face almost 17.

However the next morning, Elton's unhappy face was back again. He still didn't like snow or winter. Elton's mother sighed(叹气). Just then the doorbell rang again it was Lucy. She asked Elton to go snowshoeing. Elton wrinkled his nose but said, "OK, I guess so." Elton and Lucy wore the snowshoes and went snowshoeing through the trees behind the house. At lunchtime, Elton came inside with a happy look. He told his mom all about the 18 he and Lucy had in the snow.

Just then the doorbell rang it was Lucy. "Would you like to go sledding(滑雪橇)?" she said. This time Elton didn't wrinkle his nose and shouted to his mom, "I'll be home at dinnertime!" Elton 19 that he loved winter. He loved making snowman, going snowshoeing, and sledding. For an outside boy, winter can also be a 20 time of a year.

We human beings share one world and live on the same planet. The earth is beautiful and it's our responsibility to protect it and the environment. As students, maybe we can't do a lot about cars and factories, but we can also make our own efforts to make a difference.

Last weekend, my dad and I threw away my textbooks into intelligent waste-management recycling bins(智能垃圾分类回收机). Those textbooks are what I used in my primary school and stayed in my room for a very long time.

I once heard of Xiaohuanggou from one of my classmates. After learning about it, I told my dad about its use and purpose. Xiaohuanggou is a tech firm(科技公司) which has set up many intelligent waste-management recycling bins across the county. The bins help people sort(分类) and recycle their waste. People can throw away objects they no longer need into the bins. The intelligent bins will then weigh the objects and give rewards(奖励) to people. Then the rewards can be spent on products from the company's app, online games or donated to charities(做慈善捐助).

Considering that there were many textbooks that I didn't need any more, both my dad and I thought it was a good idea to throw them into the intelligent bins. As the intelligent bins can sort them, it would be more helpful and easier for workers to process(处理) the garbage.

However, many people might just throw rubbish away without sorting it. This makes it difficult to process the garbage, and much of it will be put into landfills(垃圾场) instead of being recycled. But by encouraging people with rewards, I think that Xiaohuanggou may raise public awareness(提升公众意识) of garbage sorting.

Human beings live on the earth. It is meaningful to sort garbage to protect the environment. It is not a difficult task to sort garbage before processing it. Let's take actions together.

27. What can the intelligent waste-management recycling bins do?

- ①Sort the waste. ②Recycle the waste.
③Weigh the waste. ④Throw away the waste.
A. ①②③ B. ①②④ C. ①③④ D. ②③④

28. What can we learn about Xiaohuanggou?

- A. The writer once heard of Xiaohuanggou from one of her teachers.
B. The rewards can be spent on products from the company's app

- C. The rubbish without sorting makes garbage processing easier.
 D. The rewards may raise public awareness of garbage sorting.
 29. Which of the following would be the best title of the passage?
 A. Setting Up a Tech Firm
 B. Developing a New App
 C. Throwing Rubbish Away
 D. Recycling the Smart Way

D

According to a recent report, about 18% of China's Internet users are under 19 years old. And nearly 1/4 of them are students. While benefiting a lot from the Internet, such as education and communication, teenagers often face dangers and risks. To better protect them, the Chinese government last year launched(启动) a special system which has come to be known as the "Teenager Mode(模式)." Many live online video platforms(平台) are now using it, but how effective is it?

"Teenager Mode" seems to be a firewall to protect teenage Internet users from overuse. Platforms have their own ways to do that, such as time limits and passwords. They can also prohibit rewarding, recharging(续费) and so on.

Although there are some advantages, "Teenager Mode" still has its problems. For example, many parents complain that their children can still see something unsuitable on some platforms although they use "Teenager Mode". And if teenagers get hold of the full password, they can enter and exit whenever they like.

Experts say the system is still very new and it takes time and energy to improve it. "'Teenager Mode' doesn't have the same standard yet. For platforms, they should make every effort to truly meet the requirements of the regulatory authorities (管理当局的要求)," said Wang Sixin, the president of Beijing Net Law Society.

Others say "Teenager Mode" doesn't really limit the time teenagers spend online. They can simply go from one app or platform to another till they use up the time limit on each. To improve it, first of all, the time spent on each app or platform needs to be shared. Second, in order to help parents control their children's time spent online, the app or platform can trigger(触发) an alarm to warn the parents.

In all, the system is an important first step to protect young people from the dangers and risks of the Internet, but more needs to be done.

30. According to the passage, "Teenager Mode" is launched to _____.

- A. keep teenagers far away from their computers
 B. show teenagers the benefits of the Internet
 C. stop teenagers from overusing the Internet
 D. protect teenagers from the dangers in their schools

31. The word "prohibit" in Paragraph 2 probably means _____.

- A. provide B. allow C. change D. stop

32. What can you learn from the passage?

- A. The "Teenager Mode" can only set passwords.
 B. The "Teenager Mode" still has some problems.
 C. Experts say the system will be improved soon.
 D. Teenagers' online time can be reduced successfully.

33. What is the writer's purpose in writing this passage?

- A. To tell teenagers not to use the Internet.
- B. To point out the disadvantages of the Internet.
- C. To discuss the effects of the “Teenager Mode”
- D. To encourage parents to use the “Teenager Mode”.

第二部分

本部分共 6 题，共 20 分。根据题目要求，完成相应任务。

四、阅读表达(每题 2 分，共 10 分)

阅读短文，根据短文内容回答问题。

Grow Your Own Garden

Gardens come in all shapes and sizes. Starting a new one might seem difficult. But with a little planning and a few tips, you'll grow your own garden easily.

Grow what you love in your own garden. This way, you'll be sure to enjoy the process. You can grow vegetables. If you don't like vegetables, you can grow fruits, flowers and succulents(多肉植物).

Once you decide what kind of garden you'd like to start, you'll need to plan a few things before getting to work.

First, choose a location. Find a proper place that has good sunlight. Maybe you live in an apartment and don't have a yard. That's not a problem! You can start a garden in containers(容器) or most plastic bottles. You can even grow a garden in old rain boots.

Next, pick the right soil(土壤). This is important for a garden. An expert at a gardening store can advise you on the best soil for your garden.

After you have the correct soil, choose your plants. Will you start with seeds(种子) or seedling(幼苗)? Growing from seeds is often less expensive. And it's more satisfying, because you get to watch the growth from seed to plant. But growing from seedlings is easier. There's a better chance for your plant to grow big enough.

If you are wondering the best time to plant your own garden, plant right before the start of the growing season so that the plants can grow better.

If you're a new gardener, start small. Because the larger the garden is, the greater the losses can be when things go wrong. Once you know how to plant a garden, you'll be able to plant season after season and try to grow new things.

Soon your plants will produce fruits and vegetables. Share flowers with neighbors to brighten their day, or bring some vegetables to a family that's going through a hard time. As I like to say, “Be a kind person!”

- 34. What can you grow in your own garden?
- 35. What is the proper place for your garden?
- 36. When is the best time to plant your own garden?
- 37. Why should you start small if you are a new gardener?
- 38. What is the passage mainly about?
