范文:

Dear Jim,

I hope you're having a great week. I'm writing to ask if you have time during the summer holiday to do some volunteer work.

This coming summer, my school is going to hold an English Debate Camp, which will last for three weeks starting from July 18. The purpose of the camp is to teach students how to debate in English. The school plans to invite some foreigners to work as teaching assistants at the camp. Their responsibilities will include helping students with language skills and debate techniques.

If you are interested and available during that time, my school would greatly appreciate your assistance. For further information, you can log on to the school website.

Yours,

Li Hua
